

Ancient Scribe

Game 12

April 1011

Welcome to the first news from the region.

Our first piece of news comes from the region of Pita where the village of Begur is located. Until recently, the village was controlled by the elders who had no affiliations to other villages. The Forces of Abadon, commanded by Most Unclean, a warlord from a nearby village saw the settlement as lightly defended and took his chance to gain control. He gathered an army numbering over 600 troops and marched the short distance to the location. The defenders, an irregular bunch of skirmishers and Infantry fell in rank to defend their village lead by their elders and their war chief. As the sun reached its peak the Army of Abadon advanced forward with cavalry on the left flank. The clash was both brief and bloody but the defenders line bowed and then snapped as panic set in. The Abadon forces sensing victory surged forward with their mounted troops turning withdrawal into rout. Soon the defenders had melted away leaving the village in the hands of the Abadon Army.